

We're going PINK

In Recognition of Breast Cancer Awareness Month 2017

For one week in every October CNG's newspapers are printed on pink paper in recognition of Breast Cancer Awareness Month. These annual special editions include features about prevention, detection and treatment of breast cancer as well as stories about breast cancer fighters and survivors. Additionally we introduce our readers to those who treat patients and to services that are available locally. These special editions have been acknowledged by New York City television news media for their unique and effective approach to providing important information to the community.

Help promote the fight against breast cancer all while advertising in the most compelling and informative issue of the year.

Sponsorship and supporter level packages are available.
